The first D-A-CH textbook which gives equal attention to the three German-speaking countries. The Swiss, Austrian and German author team based this newest textbook series on the Common European Framework of Reference (CEF) and the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines. Optimal follows a functionally driven curriculum, making goals transparent for the learner and teacher every step of the way. While it utilizes the student's world knowledge, it engages him/her in the process of discovering new linguistic patterns and structures. All components of the series take an integrated approach toward the acquisition of functional patterns and grammatical structures in conjunction with encouraging reflection about linguistic and cultural similarities and differences. The textbook is divided into 12 chapters covering topics of everyday life in Switzerland, Austria and Germany. Each chapter is subdivided into integrated units of authentic cultural topics, vocabulary and expressions, grammar, pronunciation, and practice and review. Each page in the textbook is mirrored by a corresponding page in the workbook (with audio CD).
