

Librería
Bonilla y Asociados
desde 1950

Título: Strategic Marketing

Autor: Cravens

Precio: $429.00

Editorial:

Año: 2008

Tema:

Edición: 9ª

Sinopsis

ISBN: 9780071263351

New and expanded scope-This new edition accentuates the global perspective in which the author team provides an extensive range of global involvement. This new scope allows students to recognize that competing in any market today requires a global perspective.

New and expanded scope-This new edition accentuates the global perspective in which the author team provides an extensive range of global involvement. This new scope allows students to recognize that competing in any market today requires a global perspective.

New and current applications of business marketing initiatives are included in every chapter. These new features allow students to examine strategy, innovations, relationships, global ethics and corporate responsibility, Internet, and metrics aspects of business practice. Applications stress the management of strategic relationships throughout the value chain.

New and current applications of business marketing initiatives are included in every chapter. These new features allow students to examine strategy, innovations, relationships, global ethics and corporate responsibility, Internet, and metrics aspects of business practice. Applications stress the management of strategic relationships throughout the value chain.