

Librería
Bonilla y Asociados
desde 1950

Título: Higher Education In The Internet Age. Libraries Creating a Strategic Edge

Autor: Senn / Gordon

Precio: $544.46

Editorial:

Año: 2006

Tema:

Edición: 1^a

Sinopsis

ISBN: 9780275981945

"The book is a wonderful overview of the present realities and future potential of college and university libraries. What I find most important is that the book challenges university leaders to consider the transformational role that libraries can play in enhancing the learning of students and the work of faculty in a period of fiscal constraints and increasing expenses. This is a book for people who care about the future of our colleges and universities and aspire to be leaders in them--whether as presidents, provosts, faculty members or middle level administrators. In an age in which technology will impact all aspects of university life, libraries of the future (and the present) will be the center of learning and research--not just symbolically but practically. This book provides important guideposts to this future." - Alan E. Guskin Distinguished University Professor, Ph.D. Program in Leadership and Change, and Director, Project on the Future of Higher Education University President Emeritus, Antioch University