Friis (health science, California State University) and Sellers (director, H. Lee Moffitt Cancer Center and Research Institute, University of South Florida) survey topics in epidemiology, from study designs to quantitative measures, in this introductory text for undergraduate and graduate students. Written in an accessible style, the text includes chapter questions and exercises, plus real-world applications of epidemiology. This third edition includes updated data and statistics, and new discussions of contemporary issues, such as anthrax, bioterrorism, and the SARS epidemic.
